
Internet Video Articles Wanted

Posted by Simon Sanders - 2007/12/18 06:44

Are you interested in working in your local area to create video features and video advertising for the internet? If so, I urgently want to collaborate with you.

The concept is new but simple. I have created an online magazine www.WDI-Fusion.co.uk which is paid for by advertising revenue. I need exciting video articles and advertisements to fill the pages. As a video producer you will get 25% of advertising revenue generated by your work and 100% of the production for any video advertisements that you have procured and produce for the site.

I am looking for simple video articles about your local town or city, on the back of which we can sell advertising to local business. So video articles about the history, places to go or local events would be ideal. Other particularly suitable articles, that you might wish to consider, would be "How to" articles. These could be on any subject you like from knitting to hang gliding. We can sell advertising on pages such as this to online and offline suppliers.

As a video contributor and site collaborator, you will also be given a Profile Page so that commissions for advertising videos can be directed directly to you in addition to providing a link to the articles that you have produced for www.WDI-Fusion.co.uk

So if you are interested simply let me know so I can send you further information. simon@WDI-Fusion.co.uk

=====